

Disclaimer

Contemporary Family Magazine is a unique publication for family professionals, advocates and legislators who have differing experiences, research findings and opinions that may be debated, and qualified. Our Editors strive to assure our readers that their voice is valuable and important. Therefore, please recognize that all content reflect do not necessarily represent the views of the publisher or editors. All content is published in good faith, though we cannot guarantee nor accept liability for any loss or damages caused by the publication, its companion website, or its advertisers including content of other websites, advertising or resources.

All rights are reserved and nothing can be partially or in whole be reprinted or reproduced without a written consent. We welcome your republishing but ask your request for such.

Contemporary Family Magazine reserves the right to make changes to any information on this site without a notice.

By using our publications and websites, you agree to all terms and conditions listed above. If you have any questions about this policy, you may contact us. info@contemporaryfamily.org.